Mrs. Dr. J. Parks, 121 east Broad street, city, denies the statement made by certain, parties advertising in evening State. My customers know this person was ignorant as to the freatment of feet, having only two weeks tuition in chiropody last June. I told those of my customers who were obliged to stay in town that she was not a competent overator, and if they trusted her it must be at their own risk. I am astonished at the falseness of the statement, that she took charge of my busin'sse two years. Her business with me was labeling, filling, and bottling my HAIR RESTORER. She has never, while in my employ, treated the face, cut, or curled the hair, treated a warf, mole, or facial blemishes. As to manicure—well, the public will tell better than i, as it suffered the most. The formula of any of my preparations were never known to anyone but myself.
